NEW YORK'S WOUNDED EXECUTIVE IS NOT LOSING GROUND.

CONTINUES TO HOLD OWN

Physicians Issue Bulletin That Symptoms Are Most Encouraging This Afternoon.

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 11.—At eight o'clock this morning the doctors who had spent the night within the call of Mayor Gaynor's bedside issued the following bulletin: "Mayor Gaynor's temperature is 100-101, pulse 76, respiration 17. He passed a good night and slept well although there were a few wakenings due to nervousness. He is now sleeping." Dr. Arlitz stated that the mayor's condition was more favorable than at any time since he was shot. He is cheerful and confident that he will recover. Despite the optimistic character of the bulletin, none of the physicians will make any positive prediction that Gaynor is out of danger. This reticent attitude is worrying the mayor's friends.

At 1:40 p. m., Mayor Gaynor's throat this morning is being sprayed with an antiseptic solution. The Mayor shows more signs of irritability than he has hitherto displayed since the shooting.

Dr. Lederer said at two o'clock there was no change whatever in Mayor Gaynor's condition which in the opinion of the physicians continued favorable.

Five Candidates for Republican gubernatorial Nomination Make Things Interesting.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 11.—With the general primaries but five days away, the political campaign throughout California has reached a stage of feverish intensity. The main interest centers in the fight for governor, and since Theodore Bell, the democratic aspirant, has an opposition at the primaries the real struggle will be between the five republicans. This contest on the republican side will afford the first test of the strength of the insurgent movement in California.

Ulysses Johnson is the insurgent choice for the head of the ticket. For weeks he has been industriously touring the state and is generally admitted that his clever campaign speeches have increased the insurgent sentiment in many counties. In his behalf Clifford Pinchot, the deposed United States forester, came to California recently and spoke in several of the chief cities.

The other candidates for the republican gubernatorial nomination are regarded as regulars: They are: Allen Anderson, a wealthy fruit grower who is state bank commissioner; Charles F. Curry, secretary of state; Phillip Stanton, speaker of the assembly; and Nathan C. Elberg.

CRISIS DUE IN MINERS' AFFAIRS

FACTIONAL FIGHT LIKELY TO DISRUPT WORKMEN'S UNION

PRESIDENT LEWIS OPPOSED

Important And Far-Reaching Developments Expected At Convention In Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 11.—The eyes of all members of the United Mine Workers, from the coal fields of West Virginia and central Pennsylvania northwest to British Columbia and southwest to Texas and Oklahoma are today turned toward this city, where a special convention of the national organization assembled in response to the call recently issued by President Thomas L. Lewis. Results of the most important and far-reaching character are expected from the convention. That the factional differences between President Lewis and those opposed to his policies will be fought out on the convention floor is regarded as a certainty, and it would not be surprising if a serious split in the ranks should ensue.

Within the past few weeks the affairs of the organization have been rapidly approaching a crisis. At the present time there are more than 100,000 members of the United Mine Workers on strike. About 50,000 are involved in the great conflict in Illinois. In the Northwestern district, which embraces the States of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, there are over 30,000 men on strike. In Pennsylvania there are about 15,000, in Ohio about 60,000 and in Colorado about 2,000. It is possible that this list will be increased next month when the existing contracts between the operators and miners expire in Wyoming and Washington.

The fight against President Lewis is due primarily to the situation in Illinois, which reached an acute stage a week or so ago following the rejection by the miners of the compromise settlement engineered by President Lewis. The latter attempted to force the compromise on the men and compel them to return to work, while John H. Walker, president of the Illinois district and one of the most influential leaders in the national organization, urged the men to stand firm believing that they had the long fight won.

The Illinois miners almost to a man are said to be supporting Walker in his efforts to hold out against the operators and in his opposition to the compromise plan of President Lewis. A number of the Illinois local unions have gone so far as to adopt resolutions condemning President Lewis and calling on him to resign from the office he holds.

State President Walker makes no secret of his intention to work for the overthrow of President Lewis. Many of the miners of Illinois are insisting that Walker become a candidate for the presidency of the national organization. When Walker and Lewis contested for the presidency two years ago the latter polled 83,000 votes, against 66,748 for Walker, a majority of 16,253. The Illinois miners may be joined by those of other States in the support of Walker, and the latter's supporters feel positive of his election in the event the miners fight for president.

Lewis has many loyal followers among the members of the organization and any attempt to depose him will be bitterly fought. He has held the presidency since the spring of 1908, when he was elected to succeed John Mitchell. Prior to that time he had held the vice-presidency for a number of years. It is a well known fact that President Mitchell was opposed to the policies of Lewis and would have preferred to have Secretary W. B. Wilson succeed him.

Lewis began his mining career at the age of seven years as a state picker on the breakers in Pennsylvania. He first came into prominence at the age of seventeen years, in connection with the Knights of Labor movement. Later he moved to Bridgeport, Ohio, where he dug coal in the mines of the Wheeling Creek Company for three years, and in 1892 gave up his work to accept the position of secretary-treasurer of the Ohio miners' organization. In 1900 he was chosen national vice president of the United Mine Workers of America.

That President Lewis intends to take definite action to smother the revolt organized against his administration is evidenced by the statement included in his call for the present convention, "the purpose of which is stated to be 'to take such action as a certainty by those familiar with and members of the United Mine Workers to respect and comply with the authority of the international executive board.'"

The call did not specifically mention the conflict between President Lewis and the Illinois miners, but that this clash will be thrashed out on the floor of the convention is regarded as a certainty by those familiar with the situation.

FALLING METEORS SEEN IN THE HEAVENS

Attract the Attention of Many Persons Nightly—Fifty Counted by One Observer. If the weather continues fair there will be a spectacular display of meteors and shooting stars in the sky for the rest of the week and probably on Sunday, according to astronomers in different parts of the country. Last night one observer watched the heavens and counted as many as fifty within a few hours, many of which had a very bright appearance. The moon was in its first quarter, and the night was ideal for the occasion. Stars seemed to fall from all parts of the sky, some of them traveling a long course and leaving behind them tails that were often broken into several courses, giving them the appearance of a display of fireworks. One theory which agrees with that of several astronomers, is that these stars, which are the fragments of comets, travel in an orbit of their own around the sun. They believe that the earth once in every thirty-three years passes through this orbit, and that we are now approaching it, which accounts for the splendid displays of the last few evenings. It is estimated, by the resistance to the heat generated by the particles travel around their orbit. When they enter the atmosphere of the earth, where they are heated to incandescence, they become visible to us; and if the resistance is great enough the fragment, or "shooting star," as it is commonly termed, burns. It is said that they sometimes fall to the earth as meteoric dust, or explode as they strike the earth, in which case the report has been heard for a considerable distance. They generally burn while floating in the atmosphere. According to the reports of the observatories of the country, these displays will continue for several days, the best being on Sunday, which is termed in tradition "St. Lawrence's day." The shooting stars have always been plain at this time of the year. It is probable that "meteor parties" will be formed, "comet parties" were formed to view Halley's comet. The northern half of the globe have been exceptionally bright for the last few evenings, and have appeared much different from their usual form. They are unusually bright, and appear in some flashes. These are accounted for by the change in temperature in the last two days.

Common-Sense Psychology in Ad Copy

"When an advertising man has been in the business for some years, writing copy almost every day he gets to feel certain bed-rock, common-sense requirements of good copy that many of those who merely babble or theorize never seem to grasp," says J. H. Schumaker in "Printers' Ink." Practical advertising men are not apt to stop long to theorize, therefore it is hard to get them to write or tell about this common-sense criterion for copy. The very things which are so constantly written about how to write good copy are seldom real, practical copywriters. There is something peculiarly psychological about copy-writing which brings success to the man who is least self-conscious and deliberate about it. The man who is constantly framing up general principles, or over the head of the man who makes the most analytical and psychological effort while writing copy, is extremely liable to go astray and write strained and wooden stuff. This is why the study of psychology in advertising frequently defenestates its purpose. A man who has had much contact with people and selling will have a far surer selective psychological instinct in preparing an advertising argument than most copy-writers who attempt to apply rules or methods. Some day we may perhaps hope to be just as effective when we proceed on rules as when we write copy on instinct and human-nature experience; but it is my belief that advertising will always be an art, not a science. If it is a science, then literature is also a science, and it must be possible to compound a masterpiece in a laboratory. I don't know of any more certain rule in advertising writing than to keep trying to persuade either yourself or an imaginary individual all the time that you are composing the ad. In drafting it, there is a simple but profound rule to be observed—to force home a single strong impression. So much advertising blunders; it doesn't deliver a telling blow; it start, and then consistently follow it up. It has no unity, and therefore no practical power for business. Practical advertising demands that you make a point right from the crack of the pistol. It must be a real point, too—one that, by the very nature of it, will first attract the exact kind of reader you want and which will set him to wanting more information.

TWO OPERATORS SHOT BY THIRTEEN

Detroit Telegraphers Engage in Ar-guement and Shooting Results.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—An altercation between two operators in the Western Union Telegraph company's office resulted in the shooting of Authur McAdams, brother of the chief operator, and John Schwartz, an operator.

McAdams has a bullet in his back and is in a serious condition. Schwartz was shot in the neck, but not seriously. Peter J. Delaney, an operator about thirty-five years old, is under arrest.

The trouble which led to the shooting was simply a minor argument between Delaney and Schwartz. And deliberately pulled out a revolver and is said to have fired five shots only two of which took effect.

PROMOTERS IN JAIL, CHARGED WITH SWINDLING MRS. MARIE NEVINS BULL.

vey W. Corbett, from photographs taken as the principals were leaving court.
(By special correspondent.)
New York, N. Y.—The sensational charges of swindling brought by Mrs.
Marie Nevins Bull, widow of the late Dr. William T. Bull, of international fame, have created a decided stir in financial circles. The men under arrest are promoters, John A. Qualey and Harvey W. Corbett. They are alleged by Mrs. Bull to have defrauded her out of $35,000 by inducing her to invest in their magnesium asbestos company. Both of the promoters are well known in Newport and have interested many wealthy clients in their process by which they claim to be able to make a fire-proof asbestos mechanically.

John F. McIntyre represents the promoters as their attorney. Strange being given as security. The court al-

TEACHES COURSE IN THRIFT

HABIT OF SAVING INSTILLED INTO SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Massachusetts Passes Law Enforcing Instruction of Young Folk in the Art of Accumulation.

Acting upon the old time-theory that "a penny saved is a penny made," the state of Massachusetts has passed a law requiring a course in thrift to be taught in the public schools. The law was passed on the recommendation of the old age pension commission of the state, which took the position that the best way to pay old age pensions is to instruct the growing citizens so that when they become old they will not need a pension from the state.

Massachusetts is peopled with industrious and hardworking folk, but the statistics show that a "saving" course of instruction is needed there, and it is the first state to take this position.

The first American savings bank was established in Massachusetts nearly a hundred years ago, but savings banks do not of themselves make the people thrifty, though they may help. Massachusetts has many savings banks and probably an excellent system as any state, but during 1909 there were 900,000 persons in the state who had to have financial help from the various charitable corporations of the state. This was one-third the total population.

Paupers and other publicly supported persons made up 75,000 of the total, and there were more than 35,000
"vagrants" registered. Additional thousands received help from friends and relatives, but they are not included in the 900,000 total.

These facts have aroused those who have the interests of the people at heart to an active campaign, the first fruit of which was the passage of the thrift educational law to supplement the other agencies for encouraging thrift, or to form the foundation upon which these other agencies shall rest.
Some of these agencies are the plan of Industrial Life Insurance and old age pensions issued at actual cost through the savings banks, the credit union plan which has just been started at Springfield, the authorization of branch of the savings banks in factories, etc.

The teaching of thrift is made compulsory, and the school authorities are now at work on the details of the method of instruction in life insurance, annuities, and other plans of regular saving.

The Massachusetts Savings Insurance league indorses the new plan in these words:

"There is no better way to interest the pupils of our high schools in thrift than by informing them of the advantages of savings bank insurance.
As various penny savings schemes have been established in our elementary schools, the next logical step will be the establishment of agencies for savings bank insurance in our high schools. Our public school teachers are willing to co-operate and the coming year will doubtless see many addresses given on savings bank insurance to the scholars of our high schools."

Cost of Maintenance of Rats.
The material destroyed by rats for building nests costs Denmark $3,000,- 000 annually; France, $10,000,000;
Germany, $30,000,000; Great Britain, $75,000,000, and the United States at least $100,000,000, of which $15,000,000 is from fires.

The Ticklemouse
—and his Sleepyland Adventures
By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Ticklewatch

WHAT made you run away last night? Found the watch when midnight brought the merry mice to the nursery again.

"Too much of a layoff hunt, that was! Found your watch yet, Davy?"
"Not yet." The little boy looked wistfully at his playmates. "I s'pose it's all run down by this time." "Don't worry!" The Ticklemouse smiled kindly and looked at his own tiny watch. "I thought of that, so I made Willy wish it wouldn't stop going.
Neither will we, children, till that watch is found. Where's Taff?"

"Locked up in the woodshed," said the twins. They hadn't wanted their fun spoiled again by the old black cat, and when they saw how this news pleased the mice they were glad they had thought of it in time.

They started for the haymow again, laughing to think how quickly the mice had scuttled out of sight the night before. They began with the other side of the barn this time, listening carefully for the sound of the lost watch.
"Oh, I know a scheme!" said Willy
all of a sudden. He stood on one leg, winked one eye—and disappeared!

"Why, where is he?" The twins rubbed their eyes. "Listen!" The Ticklemouse laughed softly as the sound of a watch grew louder and louder, till it sounded like a threshing ma-

"What's it saying?"
"Why," said Dorfy, "Tick, tick, of course—it doesn't—it says 'tickle, tick, tickle!' How funny! What makes it do like that?"

"First let's find the watch," said their friend, "and then we'll see—or hear.
Was there ever as mischievous little scamp as our Willy?"

"Tickle, tickle!" said the watch, more loudly than ever.

They ran across the haymow, sinking kneedeep at every step. "It's down here somewhere!" cried Davy, eagerly.

"Tickle, tick, tickle!" almost yelled the missing watch. Davy dived head first into the hay and came up with it in his hand. "Why, I never heard it tick like that before," said the little boy, as they scuttled back to the nursery.

"What's got into it?"
"Willy's got into it!" tickled the watch cheerfully. "It's a ticklewatch now!"
And when Davy showed the watch to his wondering friends next day, everybody was puzzled by the things it said.
For Willy was bound he'd travel around with the watch all day in Davy's pocket and surprise them all.

He surprised them all right, and Davy was the hero of the day. Nobody in Doverville had ever seen a ticklewatch before!

PRIMARY LAW SENATORS.

Early in September the voters of Wisconsin will engage in the fierce of voting for a United States senator. Not that they expect to elect the man of their choice, for senators are not elected in this way and can not be until the constitution is amended by a two-thirds vote of all the states.

The rank and file understand the situation, and as they take but little interest in primary elections, a majority of them will say by their indifference that the legislature is competent to represent them, as the law provides.

The experience of Illinois in turning down Senator Hopkins after being elected by 50,000 majority, and of one of the western states in electing a democrat over a republican, who carried the primaries, to say nothing of the burlesque in Wisconsin two years ago, are object lessons in current political history, which caused the supreme court of the state to sit up and take notice.

The contest two years ago called out 150,000 republican votes at the primaries, which were divided among four candidates who spent their time and some $200,000 over an election which had no legal standing.

The man who finally won the prize, by the grace of the legislature, happened to be one of these candidates whose total vote at the primaries was 50,000—representing less than 15 per cent of the vote of the state, and yet called the people's candidate because he had passed through the primary ordeal, and paid for the privilege.

The case is different this year because there are only two candidates, and while they will succeed in calling out but a minority of the voters, one or the other will receive a majority of all the votes cast.

One of these candidates is Senator Robert M. La Follette, who modestly refuses to succeed himself. His friend and fellow insurgent, Senator Bristow of Kansas, said of him in Milwaukee, the other day, "Senator La Follette is the greatest man living today," ignoring the fact that Colonel Roosevelt is not yet in his dotage.

The hypnotic halo which envelops the Kansas senator is not so dense in Wisconsin as formerly, and in the light of current history many of his former supporters think he is the greatest knocker in public life today. This opinion is shared by the President and the national administration, because of disloyalty and lack of support. The other candidate is the Hon. S. A. Cook of Neenah. Mr. Cook is a man of ability, a large employer of labor and a conservative, substantial business man. He is a loyal supporter of Taft and his administration and seeks the support of men in sympathy with these principles.

The contest between these candidates is not a "half-breed" and "stalwart" contest. These titles which caused so much bitterness are no longer recognized, and the issue which now presents itself is more vital because it has to do with loyalty and disloyalty.

The republican voters who are enough interested to vote at the primary election, will vote for S. A. Cook, if they believe in President Taft and his administration, while those who endorse the principles of insurgency will support Senator La Follette. Then the legislature, when it convenes in January, will elect a senator.

The legislature represents all the people, in concrete form, the same as a board of directors represents the stockholders in a corporation. Their judgment is final and usually satisfactory to their constituency. The forefathers planned wisely when they framed the constitution.

One house elected by the people, the other by the people's representatives, has served the people well and they are satisfied.

If the republican party is to continue in power the question of most vital importance is loyalty, far and away outweighing personal ambition. The republican voters of the state should elect a legislature so thoroughly inspired with the spirit of loyalty that there can be no question as to the kind of a man that will be elected to represent the state in the upper house of congress.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

Too often the public is prone to criticize rather than praise the work of a newspaper. Too ready to find fault with minor details than to endorse the policies the editorial column sets forth. It would be an impossibility to serve the public, as does a newspaper, and please everyone, and consequently when words of praise come to the editorial desk it is most gratifying to the management to know the labors and care taken to issue the paper daily are appreciated.

The following letter came entirely unsolicited from a gentleman who makes his home in Chicago most of the time and keeps in touch with his home news through the columns of the Gazette. It is reprinted in full for the purpose of illustrating what an unbiased opinion of the Gazette really represents from a reader's point of view. The letter has the heading of the Northern Syndicate, Incorporated, 213 Randolph street, Chicago, Ill., and bears the date of Aug. 4th, 1910. The letter itself is as follows:

To the Editor of the Janesville Daily Gazette.

Dear Sir: There are a few things, as regards the Janesville Daily Gazette, about which I wish to express my opinion.

Being an out-of-town subscriber I receive my paper one day late, notwithstanding, I find many news items in it which occur for the first time in our Chicago papers dated one day later. This is especially so as regards foreign news items and occurrences of general interest.

If the Gazette came but once a week and contained only the article headed, "Our Saturday Night," I would consider it a good paper because I receive much encouragement from that department. I like your articles entitled, "Heart to Heart Talks," also. These two departments treat of subjects we all feel and realize yet say very little about.

I like to read my paper because you strive to be as authentic as possible. I do not always agree with you politically but I read your editorials because you are not afraid to say what you think.

And above all I like the Gazette because you are a booster. There are too many men here who are over attempting to find something to kick about. Janesville is an exceptionally beautiful city in natural beauty, in public buildings and highways, and in residences. It has every reason to be proud of the Gazette.

I hope that you will mail this letter up in some place where you can see it so that when your office is filled with knockers you may know that there is at least one person who appreciates your efforts.

Yours very truly,
G. L. BURGESS.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

Under the primary law, any man with sufficient funds to promote his interests, can become a prominent candidate for any office he seeks. The law has established a new method of campaigning, that of newspaper publicity, and the advertisements of the candidates for state offices are usually handled by an advertising agency and placed in newspapers regardless of their editorial policy at their regular advertising rate. The Gazette has accepted many of the advertisements of candidates in the past and for future publications, whose political tenets it does not endorse, but as the matter is put on a purely financial basis it is accepted and published at the regular advertising rates. The opinion of the Gazette is voiced in the editorial columns, not through the medium of advertisements. These advertisements will bear the caption, "political advertisements," and are paid for at so much per display inch. The advertising columns of the paper are open to all such announcements of candidates at the regular space rates, but not one inch of space can be purchased in the editorial columns at any price, to exploit the chances of a candidate for nomination. The primary law has placed politics upon a mercenary plane and has done away with the old time party loyalty and strict adherence to the endorsement of the individual candidate simply because he is a strict party man. In one column of the Gazette may appear an advertisement of one candidate for governor, while in the editorial column may appear the opponent. Political advertisements have been created by the primary law and the use of money in the publicity campaigns increases year by year as the law continues to be in force.

The adherents who take the time from their business to carefully inspect the work being done in their ward, the improvements in the shape of streets, sewers and cleaning, are doing their duty. They are subject to criticism by many taxpayers but still they have the satisfaction of knowing they are fulfilling the duties of their office to the best of their ability. No man in public life can please everyone and if they do as they think best and right it is all that can be expected of them.

Some one has written the chief of police of Janesville a threatening letter. No name was signed to the article, which even makes the threat more cowardly and dastardly. Coming as it does on top of the charges made by the city attorney it is apparently only a part of a plot to control civic affairs through fear of doing their duty on the part of the city officials.

Apparently City Attorney Maxwell's statements were not all correct, according to the statement of Chief of Police Appleby and it is safe to say that the Honor the Mayor could also add a few lines of correction to the published statement of the city attorney. As for the fire and police commissioners they can well afford to ignore the absurd charges that have been brought.

The world still shudders at the attempted murder of New York's mayor and as the investigation continues it would appear as though it was but part of a plot of a discontented element that are to be found in every city. Speedy justice will teach this class a much-needed lesson.

A bullet from an assassin's revolver is a poor reward for any conscientious city official and the more threat of its being a possibility is not the best incentive for good work.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE PACE THAT KILLS.

A woman who has delighted thousands of audiences—an actress—is dying in an eastern city because of—
The pace that kills.
The woman wants to die. There is nothing to live for. Possibly she would commit suicide, only she is intelligent enough to know that to hasten her going would not straighten out the tangle of her life—only complicate it.

The pace that kills.
There is no denying it has its allurements. 'Tread the primrose path of dalliance. Chase the winged butterfly. Listen to the patter of the fountain. Watch the drowsy dance. Eat, drink and be merry. Ho, for the short life and the happy!

The pace that kills.
There's pleasure in the pace. Oh, yes! Lift high the cup of life and drain it to the dregs. On with the joy rides! What is life but a thing to conjure with? Give us that which brightens the eye and brings the flush to the cheek and heats the feet and stirs the blood of passion.

The pace that kills.
Aye, but there's the rub. It kills! By and by the eyes that shone with pleasure will be heavy; by and by the glow of cheek will turn to pallor; the hand that, without a tremor save of joy, raised the cup will tremble in its palsy, and the feet that gaily tripped the measure of the dance will shuffle on the floor.

The pace that kills.
Some day the rivers of fancy will lose their runnels in the desert sands of life; some day the mirage that lures will rise and fade away. Disillusionment will come. And some day ambition and hope and heart and peace will go. Some day the money will go and there will be the added pinch of poverty.

The pace does not kill its victim in a day. Would it might! Slowly, insidiously, gross habits will build a prison house around the soul and life will be narrowed down. The senses will fall to pieces. In satiety and bondage goes the last quarter of the home stretch.

The pace that kills.
It is inexorable. If you dance you must pay the fiddler. And the pay is wrung most cruelly—by piecemeal! It is written in the good old book: "The soul that sinneth it shall die." The word is true not because it is in the book, but it is in the book because it is true! It states the unvarying law of things—as unvarying as the law of mathematics. If you go the pace you die.

The pace kills.
To Destroy Gunpowder.
The safest way to destroy black gunpowder is to throw it into water, thereby dissolving the salt-peter.

They doom you, Dobbin, now and then, they say your usefulness is gone; some blame your thing 'dogged by men has put the equine race in pawn.

THE TRUSTY DOBBIN.
They doomed you, and your hopes were low, when bicycles were the rage; they said: "The horse will have to go—he lags superfluous on the stage!"

They doomed you, when the auto-car was given its resplendent birth. "Thus ends the poor old horse's star—he'll have to beat it from the earth!" And now they're dooming you some more, there are so many motor things; men scorn the earth with sudden roar, or flout around on hardware wings. They doom you, Dobbin, now and then, and call you has-been, and the like; but while this world is breeding men, the horse will still be on the pike. No painted thing of cogs and wheels and entrails made of noisy brass can ever supplant a horse's heels, or make man grudge a horse his cross. No man-made trap of bars and springs can love or confidence impart, nor give the little neigh that brings emotion to the horse's heart. O build your cars and ships and planes, and doom old Dobbin as you will! While man has souls and heart and brain, old Dobbin shall be with us still!

MINERS' CONVENTION AT STORM CENTER.

President Lewis of the United Mine Workers below, and ex-President John Mitchell at top.

(By Special Correspondent.)

Indianapolis, Ind.—A strenuous fight is expected in the convention of the United Mine Workers, which takes place here this week, over the presidency. President Lewis, confidently expects a reelection, but there has grown a strong factor in the organization opposed to Lewis and his methods.

Those who backed John Mitchell, the former president, in his long and bitter contention with Lewis over policies to be pursued by the organization, are among those opposed to the present incumbent. Mr. Mitchell himself is taking no active part in the election and absolutely refuses to allow his name to be mentioned for another term.

Just who will be selected to oppose Lewis has not been stated. The convention opens today.

People Get a Good Many Kinds of Satisfaction If I Do Their Dental Work

For instance, I just extracted a big molar for a man who exclaimed, "That's the first tooth I ever had extracted that didn't hurt me!" He had had previous experience in that line, and appreciated what he was getting.

Then again, yesterday I was called upon to give an estimate on the cost of filling up a man's mouth.

When I said $20, the man threw up his hands.

"Why, Dr. so and so in Clinton wanted $35," said he.

"That's the way you can save if I do your work, and I guarantee all my work."

TOOK MURDERER INTO COURT THIS AFTERNOON LATE

ISAAC IKE WAS BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE GRIMM TODAY.

M'ELROY TO DEFEND HIM

Negro Fails to Realize the Sentence That Confronts Him for His Crime.

Isaac Ike, self-confessed murderer, was taken before Judge Grimm at the circuit court this afternoon to answer the charge of murder in the first degree of Philip Dorsch, in Beloit on Tuesday afternoon.

Sherriff Schell and District Attorney Fisher brought the prisoner into court and the man as he walked between the two officers of the court he did not seem to realize the fact that he was about to face a trial which may result in his imprisonment at Waupun for the remainder of his life.

Judge Grimm had previously taken the matter over with the district attorney and made the appointment of Attorney Horace McElroy to defend the prisoner.

The court house park was well filled with a sprinkling of white and colored loungers waiting the appearance of the prisoner and the moment the sheriff was seen coming they made a rush for the court room, seriously interfering a divorce hearing that was in progress.

The records from the Beloit municipal courts where Ike waived his preliminary hearing yesterday were not ready and this will probably result in remanding the negro to jail without bail for the coming two weeks during which time Judge Grimm will be absent.

The negro says now that he only meant to scare the Italian and not to kill anyone when he expressed his revulsion. However, he has expressed a willingness to plead guilty to the charge of murder.

The case was continued until tomorrow afternoon to allow the district attorney to get the minutes of the Beloit court. It is expected he will plead guilty at that time.

BIG TIME AT THE PICNIC YESTERDAY

Four Hundred From Janesville Enjoyed Ball Game and Races at Edgerton.

Some four hundred Janesville people returned from Edgerton last evening after a most enjoyable day spent at the annual picnic of the T. A. & B. society. The day was ideal for the outing and over four thousand people were on hand to take part in and enjoy the fun. The ball game between Edgerton and Janesville resulted in the defeat of the Tobacco City nine, 9 to 6, but there was some good sport in the racing events, of which there were three. The first was the 2:40 trot or pace for a purse of $150, and was won by Allen, owned and driven by James Heppner of Edgerton. Baron Phallus, Sam Schonek of Portage, owner and driver, came in second; Judge Denney, John Fiel of Monroe, third; Prince Fushline, owned by Fred Schwalby of Plymouth and driven by Frank Knoleschek, fourth.

The competition in the free-for-all trot or pace, was keen, a purse of $300 having been attached to this event. Irma Koster, owned by Mulberger of Watertown and driven by Knoleschek, captured the plum. The other horses entered and their places were: Bertha A., G. P. Powers of Delvidge, second; Bill Himmann, Thos. Cunningham, third; Sir Albert, Thos. Westlake, Edgerton, fourth. Rex, owned by E. Ray Lloyd of this city, was entered in this race, but did not come in with the winners. Time of heats: 2:22½, 2:31½, 2:31.

Punky Durr won the 2:25 class, trot or pace, half mile, in heats of 1:08, 1:13, 1:09; 1:12. Hazel B., owned by H. F. Block of Watertown and driven by E. T. Block, was second; Marlon E., C. Hara of Delaford, owner, and Knoleschek, driver, third; Toddy C., George Crowell of Delvidge, owner and driver, fourth.

Rex and Ray Lloyd, owned by E. Ray Lloyd, were entered in two of the races, but were afterward withdrawn.

FORCE BONDSMEN TO MAKE UP SHORTAGE

J. B. Treat and Henry Ludlow of Monroe to Make up Shortage of $1840 of Late Postmaster.

Word comes from Monroe that the two bondsmen, J. B. Treat and Henry Ludlow, bondsmen for the late Robert A. Etter, postmaster of Monroe at the time of his death, have been called upon to make good a shortage of $1840 found in his accounts with the government.

Postoffice Inspector J. P. Walker, who is in Janesville a good portion of his time, is the official to make the complaint and the affair has created considerable excitement in Monroe.

J. B. Treat, one of the bondsmen is at present out of the city but his brother, N. B. Treat, is looking after his interests and with Mr. Ludlow this morning served a notice upon the relatives of the deceased postmaster relative to restraining them from receiving the insurance on their father's life from the Modern Woodmen. It is reported that there will be a decided larger shortage in the estate when it comes up for settlement and it is alleged that it will reach fifteen thousand dollars. It is believed that there will be little left for either the creditors or his family.

Geo. E. Thorp has been appointed to take charge of the affairs of the Etter estate and it is said some interesting developments are looked for.

OREGON PRIMARY SYSTEM AT STAKE—REPUBLICAN FACTIONS LINE UP IN HOT FIGHT. Senator Bourne, who advocates direct primary system; Senator George E. Chamberlain (Dem.) elected by Republican legislature; Congressman Hawley, favored for reelection by "assembly" faction.

Portland, Ore.—The "Oregon system" of voting on senatorial candidates, which has attracted attention from the country, is the subject of one of the hottest political contests ever waged in this state, and it is admitted by both sides that the continuation of the plan in this state depends on the result of the November election.

The "assembly" faction of Republicans, or the side that is opposed to the "Oregon system," has met, recommended candidates for nomination and announced its purpose to conduct an energetic campaign for the overthrow of the methods which, it is asserted, have played havoc with party organization in the state.

The anti-assembly Republicans—the group that favor the system—are just as bitter and apparently just as ready to lock horns as the "assembly" faction. They will spare no efforts in defense of the reform which, they say, has placed Oregon in the front rank of the champions of popular government.

The opposition to the system is not organized and it cannot be, for the anti-assembly Republicans are opposed to the principle of party assemblies whose object is to suggest candidates for nomination.

They contend that the assembly is in reality an attempt to return to the old convention method of nominating a ticket and that its real purpose is the destruction of the direct primary.

There are, nevertheless, already sufficient anti-assembly candidates for nomination in the field to insure practically complete anti-assembly primary tickets throughout the state.

While openly asserting that it has for its main object the slaughter of the "Oregon system," the "assembly" faction also contends that its second important purpose is to suggest for nomination suitable candidates for office. In other words, to invite men of ability to accept nomination for office. It denies that it is opposed to the direct primary system.

Some of the strongest opposition that has confronted the Oregon system has come from men who hold that it does away in considerable measure with party rule. United States Senator George E. Chamberlain, a Democrat, is now the junior senator representing the state in congress. He was nominated in the primaries on the Democratic ticket and he received more votes than did his Republican opponent, H. M. Calk.

The legislature of Oregon, although it was Republican in its majority, was compelled under the law to choose Chamberlain as the state's representative in the upper house of the national legislature.

This condition brought about protest from men who believe in party rule. It was held that Chamberlain received many Republican votes in the primaries solely because of personal popularity, votes that would not have been given him if the Republicans who cast them had believed that the result would be the cutting down of the party's representation in congress.

To Build Up the System Golden Crown Beer

Aside from its thirst-quenching qualities and its delightful flavor Golden Crown Beer has Food Properties as well. Taken with regularity, it will stimulate the sluggish organs of your body, aid in digesting your food and generally Promote Good Health.

Try Three Bottles Free

We want everybody in Janesville to try Golden Crown without cost, hence this offer: Order a case sent to your home. Try three bottles. If it doesn't satisfy you perfectly we'll call for the remaining bottles and refund your money. We have confidence in Golden Crown Beer and in your judgment.

GOLDEN CROWN IS COLD-PROOF

You have tried other beers and while the beer you tried was no doubt delicious, it probably, after being in your ice box for a week or so, became murky and cloudy and left an unpleasant taste in your mouth.

That was Congelated Albumen.

In beer it kills the fine flavor and makes it taste harsh and disagreeable.

Golden Crown differs from all other beers. Place a bottle of Golden Crown and a bottle of some other make on ice for several days and see what will happen.

You will SEE and TASTE the difference. Golden Crown will be brilliant.

Hold a bottle of Golden Crown to the light and see how brilliant and clear it is. It is not cloudy—not thick and contains no sediment.

Golden Crown is refreshing and nourishing—a Tonic—a Beverage—a Food.

Order a case today, for your home.

New Gas Light Company of Janesville

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 11, 1870.—Jottings.—Some of the boys of this city have "crotched out" a new plaything, which seems to be made up of a sharp pointed piece of metal set in a cork, or some other light wood, with a feather attached to give it the required direction when thrown. The apparatus is attached to a string by which it is thrown. It is a dangerous thing to be used on the sidewalk where people are constantly passing, there being a liability to the injury of the eyes, or some other portion of the person.

The car compiler and platform invention by our former townman, Mr. Ezra Miller, was recently the means of preventing great loss of life at an accident on the Milwaukee Central railroad, by leveling the cars from "telescoping" during a collision. Instead of several being killed and maimed, not one on the train was injured. We congratulate Mr. Miller on the practical success of his invention.

SUNLIGHT KILLS GERMS.
Arctic explorers say that the long nights in the arctic zone are extremely depressing for both men and beast, frequently causing insanity. In New York tenement districts it has been found that the liability to tuberculosis is higher on the shady side of the street. The day is coming when houses will be built more largely of glass—and the habit of throwing the first stone will then decline, for there will be more sunshine as well as more sunlight. Meantime, let the sunshine in. Man shall not live by bread alone; pure air, pure water, pure sunshine and pure thought must be included in the bill of fare. Sunlight may fade the carpet or tarnish the glass in the sideboard, but it will kill bacteria. It is no mere figure of speech that associates darkness and evil. Let the sunshine in.

Postman's Aerial Flight.
In the village of Donnville, near St. Etienne, France, the local postman, who goes his rounds in a blouse and carries an umbrella, was caught by the gale a few days ago and blown nearly half a mile. He came safely to earth again, but he lost all his letters.

Receives for Star Match Company.
Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 11.—Walter Brown was appointed receiver for the Star Match company on application of Treasurer Homer P. Davidson of Chicago. Assets are scheduled as $20,000, liabilities, $55,000. The factory burned last Thursday.

Catch White Sparrow.
A white sparrow has been caught near Elgin, England. It was observed for the first time about a week ago, and was then so young that it was being fed by the parent birds. With the exception of a small fringe at the extremities of the wings which is of a darker color, its feathers are pure white all over.

Look Out.
The habit of puckering up the lips is said to be fatal to the contour of a beautiful mouth, for the lips are so flexible that after a while the puckering habit becomes second nature to them and they stay puckered.

Supreme Pythian Division Claims Tuberculosis Curing an Experiment.
Milwaukee, Aug. 11.—The supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, has decided not to take over the Las Vegas N. M. sanitarium for tubercular patients, now under the jurisdiction of the Knights of Pythias of New Mexico. A committee, appointed to pass upon the matter, reported that the work of alleviating and curing tubercular cases was still in the experimental stage and declared that the organization was not justified in undertaking such a responsible project because of lack of statistics. The supreme lodge sustained the report.

Langford-Kauffman Bout to Determine Opponent of Jack Johnson in Next Championship Fight—Sam Langford, Al Kauffman.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Pugilistic interest centers in the approaching Langford-Kauffman fight, to take place in the local baseball park tonight. Thirty thousand spectators are expected to witness the fight. Upon the results of this match will depend largely the next opponent of Jack Johnson in the world's championship go.

English as Universal Tongue.
It is a deeply interesting and remarkable circumstance that the Chinese government has issued an edict making English the official language for scientific and technical education throughout the empire. The action is particularly significant. Here is the most conservative nation of history, a people who are estranged by temperament and tradition from all that is western and modern. They have chosen English as the official language of their scientific and technical schools. All this means that the English people are the greatest factors in our present-day civilization, and it means, furthermore, that if the old disaster of babel tower is ever to be undone it will be through the English language.
